

Panelists Will Discuss Death Penalty May 14

Last in the series of panel discussions will be held May 14 during the noon hour in the student union. The topic of discussion will be, "Should Capital Punishment Be Abolished?"

Miss Eleanor Perry, Hartnell English instructor, will serve as moderator. Participants will include four Salinas attorneys.

Favoring the retention of capital punishment will be William Bryan and Edmund Leach, Jr.

Louis C. Moore and John La-moreaux will favor the abolishment of the death penalty.

"This particular discussion should be very informing and worthwhile to sociology, psychology, political science and police training students," said Dr. Lionel Olsen.

Past discussions have concerned the right-to-work bill, medical careers, secondary school education and behavioral sciences.

Three Teachers Leaving College

Three more instructors have announced their resignations from the Hartnell faculty.

Miss Catharine Carpenter, assistant librarian is indefinite on her future plans.

Miss Helen Underwood, vocational nurses' instructor, will return to Bloomington, Indiana, to complete her work for a master's degree and work toward her doctorate in education.

Mr. Walter Leineke, speech instructor, will begin active participation in the real estate and development business he shares with his brother in Sacramento.

Announcement Due On New Controller Of Student Finance

The newly selected commissioner of finance will be announced to the student body soon.

The commissioner was selected by the associated student body advisors and approved by the commission.

Only accounting students were considered for the position. Results of written tests, personal interviews, academic record and personnel test scores determined the one person for the job.

William Ringer, Leo Tomasini, William Lowell and Walter Sorensen were the candidates.

Students Select Rally Leader

Rosemarie LoMonaco, of Morgan Hill, was elected by the Hartnell student body as next year's commissioner of rallies and assemblies.

Miss LoMonaco edged out Carolyn Pettus by a vote of 93 to 83 in balloting April 23 and 24.

The election was a runoff because none of the candidates gained a majority of the votes in last week's balloting.

Thespians Need Piano

By Jerry McFadden

"Last year it was a goat and now it is a spinet piano," says Mr. Hal Ulrici, drama instructor. In last year's production of "Teahouse of the August Moon" Mr. Ulrici had to advertise for a goat in the Californian. He finally borrowed a goat from Strong's goat farm.

This year the drama department is in need of a small spinet piano for the production "Lo and Behold," written by John Patrick, who also wrote "Teahouse." It seems no one wants to loan a piano because they are fragile.

Also needed for the play is a tomahawk and a Navajo blanket. Anyone who would like to lend these articles may contact Mr. Ulrici.

The play has another interesting angle. It seems the ghosts which live in the Milo Alcott home become afraid when they hear the boards being torn from the house by the ex-housekeeper.

The play, as other Patrick dramatizations, has a moral which makes the audience cogitate. The thought of this play is "what is right for someone else isn't always right for you," according to Mr. Ulrici.

Curtain time for the first performance is 8:15 p.m. Thursday.

TV Show Drive Gains Support

An organized movement to gain a television spot on the Ed Sullivan show for Hartnell's talented vocalist Staten Johnston is receiving a great deal of response.

Recently a petition was circulated among Hartnell faculty and students and received over 570 signatures.

Under the direction of Ray Wilson, letters of recommendation are being solicited from the USO in Monterey, Fort Ord and the supervisors of the King City Fair in which Johnston has appeared.

With these letters of recommendation, tape recordings and pictures will be sent to the producers and directors of the Ed Sullivan show for consideration.

10 High Schools In Field Event

Ten high schools will participate in an open field day at the east campus tomorrow morning and afternoon. The event, open to the public, will feature high school teams from Salinas, San Luis Obispo, Gonzales, Madera, King City, Hollister, Santa Cruz, Morgan Hill, Gilroy and Santa Maria.

Under the supervision of east campus administrators, the individual teams will take part in various contests involving identification of weeds and crops, judging of actual land

Campus Spring Carnival In Women's Gym Tonight

Fun, laughter and gaiety will fill the air as the 1959 spring carnival comes to Hartnell college tonight from 7-10 in the Women's gymnasium.

Amidst multicolored balloons, confetti and ludicrous clowns, all students, faculty members and community residents will be able to have three hours of entertainment provided by various types of booths.

Carnival Leaders Ready

■ Ethel Boutte, ICC president, and Jean Maruess, carnival chairman, post one of several clown posters in anticipation of tonight's spring carnival.

The publicity and organization of the event have been handled by the Interclub council. Carnival activities will center around club booths which will range from a shooting gallery to a cascaroni sales. Ten campus clubs will be sponsoring booths.

"May Day" Featured

A "May Day" theme will be carried out as colored streamers of crepe paper will lead from the booths to the center of the gym for a "May pole" effect. Booths will be decorated in pastel shades of the rainbow.

According to Ethel Boutte, ICC president, carnival posters have been distributed to downtown merchants for window display as the public is welcome to join in the fun.

As a climax to the carnival, a dance will be held in the Men's gymnasium from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be furnished by the Crescendos. New admission prices are stags, 75 cents; stagettes, 25 cents, and couples $1.

Also in the springtime mood, a large bright carousel centerpiece with cardboard horses will provide the color for the dance.

Prom Receives French Theme, Bids on Sale

Champs-Elysses, a street in Paris, is the theme of the spring prom which will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Pacific room of the Hotel San Carlos in Monterey.

Music will be provided by "The Crescendos" and the featured vocalist will be Diane Stone. The dress will be semi-formal, according to Jane Ross, commissioner of social activities. This means dark suits or dinner jackets for men and short formals and cocktail dresses for the women.

Dinner will be smorgasbord with ham, turkey and cold cuts. Bids are now on sale from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the student finance office for $6.

Committee chairmen are: publicity, Georgeann Cowles; band, Karen Snyder; bids, Darnell Herschbach; location, Marilyn Miller.

Five Delegates Chosen For State Conference

Hartnell college will be represented at the 27th annual California Junior College Student Government association conference at the Lafayette hotel in Long Beach May 7-9 by five student leaders and one advisor.

Approximately 600 delegates will gather to discuss problems and ideas concerning campus finance, activities, publicity, athletics and student government. Host schools are Cerritos college and Long Beach City college.

Main speaker of the conference will be Dr. Myron Olson, of the University of Southern California, who will discuss, "Student Government: Force or Farce?"

On the fun side will be two dances, featuring Buddy DeFranco's sextet and Gus Bivona's band and a tour to Disneyland which will include free tickets to attractions and dinner.

Hartnell will propose several resolutions including some which were not passed at the regional conference. Hartnell delegates will be Bill Throgmorton, Jane Ross, Ethel Boutte, Ruben Rueda and Robert Braun. Dr. Lionel Olsen will accompany the group.

Outing Cancelled

Due to lack of interest, the "Beatnik Outing" and "Playboy" party sponsored by the Vivimus society has been officially cancelled. However, the two events will still be unofficially staged for those students who are interested in participating, according to Bob Thompson.

WITNESS FOR THE INSTITUTION

P's, Q's Not Minded Intellectuals Baffled

An ever-increasing number of students is looking to this column for the final authoritative answer to pertinent questions. For weeks now there has been a continuous flow of mail into our mailbox demanding that we settle conclusively this burning question: In the saying, "Mind your p's and q's," what does the "p" and the "q" represent?

Realizing that scores of devoted scholars are looking hopefully to us for explanation and clarification, we began a relentless research.

First we sought the explanation from Mr. Walter Leineke, and then from Mr. Hal Ulrici. Neither knew.

Historians Are Puzzled

Mrs. Mabel York marveled that the thought had never occurred to her. Nor had it occurred to Mr. Robert Harrell.

Historians Dr. Howard Braverman, Dr. B. L. Borough and Mr. Robert Johnston were at a loss for an explanation.

It was then that we met Dr. Duane Sandgren. He had this to say, "Ah, I . . . ah, that is, ah . . . HOWEVER! The pioneers found it extremely difficult to distinguish between the two." You can depend on an education man to come up with something!

In the music department Mr. Lorell McCann and Mr. Robert Lee could offer nothing.

Artists Blame Printers

However, in the art department Mr. Leon Amyx was of the opinion that it was an expression originated by printers warning that it was an expression originated by printers warning against mixing their newsprint. Despite Mr. Joseph Bragdon supporting his opinion, we were reluctant to accept this theory. Knowing that artists are inclined to think abstractly, we felt that there was little logical reason for the "p's" and "q's" to be any more likely to get mixed than any other letters.

It was then that we began to re-evaluate. Perhaps this was no problem for liberal arts people. We decided to open the question to science.

In the engineering department Mr. W. R. Bullis could not produce an answer. Mr. John Schwellenbach was sympathetic.

Feder Blames Anatomy

Anatomist Dr. Howard Feder suggested that it could mean pelvis and clavicle if clavicle only began with a "q." Finally Dr. Jerome Holmes offered our first clue: "I think it is of Latin origin," were his venerable words.

Just then my zealous assistant, Lloyd Ebel, returned after hours of fruitless research in the library. He suggested that we seek out that incomparable linguist Dr. Donald Head. Dr. Head answered without hesitation: "The letters, 'P' and 'Q,' are referred to in this old adage," explained the wise doctor, "because of the ease with which careless penmen confuse their readers if their penmanship is not done with care."

Happy Day! Now we knew our column could leave posterity something of lasting value. But my assistant Lloyd Ebel is a cynic. Since his last junior year in high school, when he was informed that Santa Claus was not a real person, Lloyd has been a skeptic. He argued with me convincingly that when written in longhand there is relatively little chance of confusing the two letters. His persistency forced me to agree.

Janitor Solves Dilemma

We both stood in silent despair trying desperately to hold back the tears when Janitor Danny Whitehead, obviously sensing our mental color, quizzed us about our problem. We explained our dilemma, and he smiled and said: "I thought everyone knew that. If you will just look in Volume P-3-B of the Oxford dictionary you will find that according to the bound provincialisms as quoted in the English Dialogue dictionary, this expression was first used in about 1876 in Herefordshire, England, in the sense 'to be of PRIME QUALITY.' Therefore though its figurative meaning is to be careful or to be cautious, literally speaking, the letters 'p' and 'q' originally meant 'prime quality.'"

"Now will you boys kindly move out of the way so I can finish my sweepin'?"

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Editor:

In regard to your editorial of April 24, I feel you have formed a misconception as to the interest of student participation in the last election.

There were two people running for each office and three people for the office of commissioner of rallies and assemblies. The election returns showed that approximately 35 per cent of the associated student body voted. This is comparable to the returns of a national election when no major issue is involved.

We at Hartnell college are fortunate in that we are responsible for student government operation independent of faculty control. If you will check the record, you will find that the members of the present commission have actively assumed their responsibilities and have sponsored activities which have shown creative ingenuity. For example, we are in the process of planning a noon hour film series, and we have extended the noon hour panel discussion program. We opened the football season with a very successful bonfire parade and closed the season with an outstanding homecoming parade.

During the spring semester "Character day" was introduced and plans initiated for revival of the spring carnival.

Student participation has been very enthusiastic and I personally feel a deep and sincere pride to have been selected to work with such a fine energetic group of people.

We of the commission have strived to create activities which would encompass the interests of the entire student body. In judging student participation you must realize that human interests are involved. In my opinion the success of any activity is not measured by 100 per cent participation, but rather by the interest and enjoyment that

Hart Sluggers Edge San Jose Jags, 3-2; Foreman Finishes

Coach Jess Regli's baseball squad scored a 3-2 win over the San Jose City college Jaguars Saturday. Mike Porter collected two of the Panthers' six hits for the afternoon.

Dick Juarez, who is the leading batter for the Panthers this season with a .550 average, collected a hit as did Bill Wittman, Frank Filice and Sal Martinez.

The winning pitcher for the Harts was Nelson Foreman, who allowed only six hits.

Spring Fever Strikes Collegians

Has spring fever hit Hartnell college? On the outside it appears that way, as the girls have emerged in petticoats and summer dresses, everyone seems to be looking at life through shiny colored glasses, spring sports have taken over, and the flowers are blooming along with romance.

The true measure of spring fever, however, is the increasing number of absences in the classrooms and the amount of work that is handed in late or not at all. This comes from the fact that there are so many other exciting things to do besides study.

This situation seems to exist year-round at Hartnell, with a slight increase in the spring due to the fairer weather. The problem at Hartnell stems from the fact that too many students are misled by the fact that Hartnell is only a two-year college and they have their attention devoted to the universities and four-year colleges. They regard Hartnell as a passing moment and fail to take advantage of the opportunities available to them.

Don't Just "Pass"

Some students believe that the work at Hartnell is not important as long as they maintain a passing average. They figure when they reach the four-year school from which they will graduate, they will proceed to show their superior work in order to distinguish themselves.

This attitude of indifference has many dangers. It ruins any attempt at spirit at Hartnell and it forms bad habits which will hinder the student in the future years. A student must also remember that it is the usual procedure to judge one by his past experiences. It is necessary to mold one's mind while it is fertile.

With the arrival of spring, a student must take special care. The end of the college year is near, and work must not be put off until a late date because a student wants to take advantage of the rise in temperature and the wonderful changes that have taken place. Act now, before it is too late! (JF)

SLEEP LACK NO PROBLEM

Dr. Feder's Early Risers Visit Carmel Tidal Area

Sixteen sleepy marine biology students and their instructor, Dr. Howard Feder, ventured out to Carmel point for an early morning field trip Sunday. The group met at 7 a.m. daylight saving time.

The trip served as a review for the class as its first field trip was also at Carmel point.

According to Dr. Feder, "The tide was very low, -1.2 feet, and seeing a tidal area at such a peaceful state was a dramatic experience for all the students."

Octopus Found

The group had an opportunity to see animals which would be exposed only at such an exceptionally low tide.

An octopus was examined hesitantly at first by the students. However, after discovering it was dead, the student became more curious and it became the prize finding of the excursion. As a proof of the discovery, Dr. Feder removed a portion of the octopus's arm which bore its suckers. Each sucker, when expanded, measured one and one-half inches across.

Other interesting marine forms observed by the class were colorful sea slugs, lump crabs, sponges, sea cucumbers and pistol shrimps. The latter sting their prey with the snapping of a claw before the actual attack.

Ex-Hartnellite Given Award

A former Hartnell student, Floyd Leslie Brooks, has been the recipient of a National Science foundation award which is enabling him to study and do research in the science field.

Brooks is the son-in-law of Mr. Robert Johnston, Hartnell social science instructor. The non-teaching fellowship award was given to Brooks for his academic achievements.

Brooks is now in his second year of working towards a Ph.D. degree at the University of Washington college of chemistry. He plans to become a college professor and continue his research work.

Flint's Team Leads

Doug Flint's team is still in first place in the intramural softball competition with seven wins and one loss for a total of 14 points.

Artists Visit City Museum

Members of the art history and art appreciation classes visited the De Young museum at Gold Gate park and the Palace of the Legion of Honor in Lincoln park in San Francisco April 23.

At the De Young museum the group viewed the Oakes collection and the Crest collection which featured master paintings of the 14th through the 17th centuries from major European artists, including such painters as El Greco, Velasquez and Rembrandt. The Goetz collection of 19th century French impressionistic painters at the Legion of Honor featured works by such artists as Picasso, Renoir and Van Gogh.

The two collections included the works of most of the artists which the art history class has been studying this semester and some of those which the art appreciation students have surveyed in their study.

After the tour the group of 76 students had dinner at the Fisherman's wharf.

Spring Dance Nets Club Profit

According to Mr. Hal Ulrici, the recent spring dance put on by the Drama club was a success.

The dance was attended by about 60 couples and netted the club about $25.

Test Scheduled For Students Transferring to San Jose State

Sixteen sleepy marine biology students and their instructor are required to take a first placement test date for transfer students. These tests are required of all students before they can register for fall classes at the state college.

Tests will be given in the Morris Dailey auditorium in Tower Hall on the SJS campus starting at 8 a.m.

These tests are for students who have completed one year of work with grades averaging "C" or better. According to an announcement from San Jose State college the student must have a minimum of 24 units. If fewer than 24 units were taken the student may be admitted if his college grade average is "C" and if his high school record shows at least seven Carnegie units earned in grades 10-12 with recommending grades of "A" or "B."

Students who wish to take the test and are currently enrolled in college may file by showing college transcripts in duplicate with a complete record and grades through the fall semester, 1958, and the course titles and units in progress in the spring semester, 1959.

The battery of placement tests include English, reading and mathematics. Placement in courses at SJS will be determined from the results of these tests. Students who have completed one semester of composition beyond an English 'A' course with a grade of "C" or better, will not need to take that part of the test.

Anyone desiring to take the tests must sign the registration list in the main office. If a student wishes, he may take the tests at a later date, but a student will not be permitted to register until he has completed all tests and consulted his advisor.

Panthers Outlast MPC Lobos, As Pitcher Anderson Leads Attack

Coach Jess Regli's Hartnell baseball team scored two runs in the third inning and three in the fourth here Tuesday afternoon and went on to defeat Monterey Peninsula college, 6-5. The win gave the Panthers a 3-4 league record.

Dennis Andersen, who aided his own cause with two hits during Hartnell rallies, allowed nine hits, four of which came in a three-run third inning rally by MPC. Estaban's two-run homer was the highlight of the Monterey attack.

The Panther righthander was in trouble in the fifth inning when the Lobos scored their final run; however, he limited MPC to one hit during the final four innings.

Mickey Chapin went the distance on the mound for Monterey.

College Seeks To Join League

Santa Cruz county's new Cabrillo college expects to join the Coast conference next fall. Even though the college will have only 15 teachers and a handful of freshman students, the college will field a football team.

All the colleges in the conference have accepted the Santa Cruz team, but a controversy has arisen over the 10-game schedules that some of the teams in the conference will have after scheduling Cabrillo college. State regulations state that no team may play more than a nine game season, so special permission must be granted so some colleges can play Cabrillo.

Hartnell, which is one of the colleges with a 10-game slate, will meet the Santa Cruz team on Sept. 26, if the 10-game schedule is approved.

Hart Teams Lack Luck

By Jim Stireman

Hartnell's athletic teams seem to be competing in a season in which this conference's champions will most likely be the luckiest teams rather than the strongest or most talented.

Coach Jess Regli's baseball squad, which had all the signs of being a power in the conference this season, was defeated by a Menlo squad 11-2 just a couple of days after the Panthers had defeated the same Oak squad 22-6. Our baseball squad is loaded with material, but just doesn't seem to have the luck.

Coach Ken Blue's golf squad, which is the best to compete on the local course in the past several seasons, is competing in a league loaded with some of the best golfing talent in the state. Some of the scores of the Panther team members would have been good enough to win the league in past years, but the opposition is stronger this season. Again, luck doesn't seem to be with Hartnell.

Netmen Look Good

Much the same is true of Coach Darwin Peavy's tennis team. With a solid nucleus returning from last year and a good crop of freshman prospects, the Hartnell racket squad seemed to be the team to beat this season. But again the other conference teams, especially Menlo and Monterey, came up with outstanding teams and the "good" Hartnell team has been left out in the cold.

But luck isn't all against us. Several weeks ago, Coach Ed Adams' track squad, which hadn't won a meet and wasn't expected to do so, upset the powerful Monterey Lobos. The Monterey squad had the abundance of experience and the Panther squad was termed as "unknown."

Many come through performances by such competitors as Bruce Logan enabled the Harts to post this all-important upset over the championship-minded Lobos. But as luck would have it, the Monterey squad came back last week and beat the Panther squad.

Whether Hartnell's "strong" teams get beat or our "weak" team win, luck seems to be the vital factor as far as Hartnell is concerned this spring. And the best way we can define the word luck is by saying, "A team can make its own luck through desire and hard work."

Panther Track Squad Takes Fourth In Hartnell Small College Meet

Hartnell college placed fourth in its own Hartnell small college track meet at Monterey last Saturday.

Behind Bruce Logan, Frank Boynay, Mike Porter, Rudy Garcia and Herb Naslund the Panthers totaled 57 points for the afternoon. Reedley college won the meet with 104 points as Monterey Peninsula college took second with 82½ and Vallejo college took third with 65 points.

Menlo college with 51½ points, Coalinga college with 37, Taft college with 19 and Porterville college with 16 finished out the team scoring for the afternoon.

The top performances for the Panthers were given by Herb Naslund in the discus and Bruce Logan in the 880, both taking seconds.

Taking thirds for the Harts were Frank Boynay in the 100, Mike Porter in the shotput, Rudy Garcia in the two-mile and the Hart mile relay team.

Placing fourth for the Harts were Andy Bulaich in the shotput, Charlie Green in the high jump and Gary Russell in the two-mile.

Russell and Logan took fifth and sixth in the mile; Green took sixth in the broad jump, and Bulaich took sixth in the discus to round out the Panther scoring.

Hart Trackmen Travel to Meet

Coach Ed Adams' track squad will travel to San Jose State tomorrow to compete in the all-comers meet. Other junior colleges as well as many state colleges will be represented.

Coach Adams originally had planned on traveling to Santa Rosa to compete in the Northern California junior college meet, but the distance and expenses made the shorter trip advisable.
